FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

WHAT DOES GOD WANT FOR MY LIFE?

This weekend we celebrate Good Shepherd Sunday, and the Lord tells "My sheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me: And I give unto them eternal life; and they shall never perish". (Matthew 10:27) This is reminder that Christ has chosen us in the Father and that Jesus desires for us to follow Him. The word vocation does allude to being called and this is true for each of us. Yet, we as members of the Body of the Christ, the Church should especially encourage our young people to listen for God's voice to first become friends of Christ and then to receive His direction for their lives.

Vocationally speaking our young people should understand that priesthood and religious life are real options for their lives. Obviously, holy sacramental marriage should also be encouraged but I do think we have an obligation as Catholics to help young people understand the vocations of priesthood and religious better because both are less visible today than in past generations. This lack of visibility can make it harder to show the goodness, beauty, and reality of priestly and religious vocations to the young. Making our responsibility to help bring both possibilities into the consciousness of our young people and encourage them to prayerfully discern their respective vocations.

Thus, I would encourage each Catholic to try and invite 2 individuals to consider the possibilities for a young man to be a priest and for a young woman to be a religious sister. This should be done from a place of prayer. As we do not want to simply just invite everyone we meet thus making the possibility pedestrian. Instead through prayer asking the Lord to help us to identify those he may be calling to the priesthood or religious (though just because we think and pray about it does not mean someone is actually called. Humility is required). Make it an invitation to prayerfully think about their vocation and swerve from pontificating a demand.

For those parents with young children, I would encourage you to pray the Archdiocesan vocation prayer (prayer cards are at the back of most churches) at home. I would also encourage you to pray for your own personal openness to having your children become religious or priests. Finally, let your children know that whatever their vocation within the Church may be (religious, priesthood, sacramental marriage, consecrated life) that you would support them no matter what.

For St. Joseph, Pillar of Families parishioners I want to encourage you to be kind to your priests and be careful of the way you talk about them. The ire and critique meted out to priest in conversations (especially in the presence of children and teenagers) will make a negative impression upon them and could seriously discourage them from considering such a vocation. So be kind and fair in your vocal evaluations of your priests.

On that note, as you already heard Fr. John Tonkin will be the next pastor of St. Joseph, Pillar of Families. Fr. John is a prayerful, joyful, and experienced priest. I am grateful to him and the Lord that he said "yes" to the position of pastor of our Family of Parishes. With his experiential wisdom and engaging personality, Fr. John will do wonderful things for our Family of Parishes. I truly believe that he is much better suited to be your pastor than I am and for that gift I am grateful (as you should be as well) to the archbishop, the priest personnel board, and God our Father for the gift of Fr. John Tonkin's forthcoming leadership. Please welcome him with joy, kindness, and generosity as that is what I desire for him as he takes on the role of pastor.

I want to end by reiterating my gratitude to Fr. John, Archbishop Schnurr, and the priest personnel board for working to best assign priests to fit the needs of the archdiocese and Family of Parishes as a whole. I hope all of you say a prayer of thanksgiving for the gift of being assigned a pastor and also pray for the priest personnel board as they will be assigning the next round of priest on May 7th.

Peace in Christ,

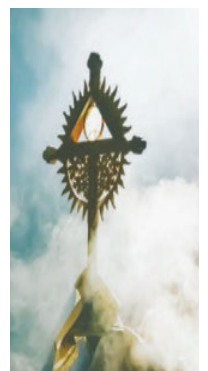

Fr. Jarred Kohn

THE VICAR'S CORNER

FR. STEVE MONDIEK

What is the priest?

This weekend the Church emphasizes the World Day of Prayer for Vocations. All three vocations are gifts from God (marriage, single, priesthood/religious life) but I would like to draw our attention to the priesthood for a moment. You see priests all the time, but what are they actually?

A priest is a man chosen by God to receive the Sacrament of Holy Orders and bring Christ's salvation to a world without hope. The Catholic Priesthood was started by Christ when Jesus appointed His Apostles to act in his person – in persona Christi – and carry on His ministry in the world through His Church. God ordains each man to serve as Christ came to serve – to give their lives so that others might live to the fullest and achieve the greatest good of heaven. The vocation of priesthood is a sacred calling. God calls each priest to serve in many ways, but the dignity and essence of the priesthood is not just in what a priest does, but in who he is: An Alter Christus – Another Christ in the World.

A priest offers the ministry of Jesus Christ to us today. When a priest offers the holy sacrifice of the Mass, it is Christ who offers it through him. When a priest absolves sins in the Sacrament of Confession, it is Jesus who forgives. When he preaches and teaches and evangelizes, He does so with the power of the Word and the Holy Spirit. When a priest acts as a father, comforting and supporting his children, he does it as Jesus' image of our heavenly Father.

A diocesan priest spends his time being God's instrument in the world. His activity revolves around the priestly identity given to him at Ordination, and the three munera, or roles, of the priest—to teach, to sanctify, and to govern. They correspond to the three identifications of Christ as Priest (sanctifier), Prophet (teacher), and King (governor). Each munera is exercised in different ways depending upon the specific assignment of the priest.

The office of teaching is exercised whenever he preaches at Mass, offers spiritual counsel, teaches in a parish school, etc. The office of sanctifying is exercised first and foremost through the celebration of the sacraments, especially daily Mass, and through blessing and living a life of prayer. The office of governing is expressed through the daily administration of the parish, or specific ministry, and through providing for the human and spiritual needs of his flock.

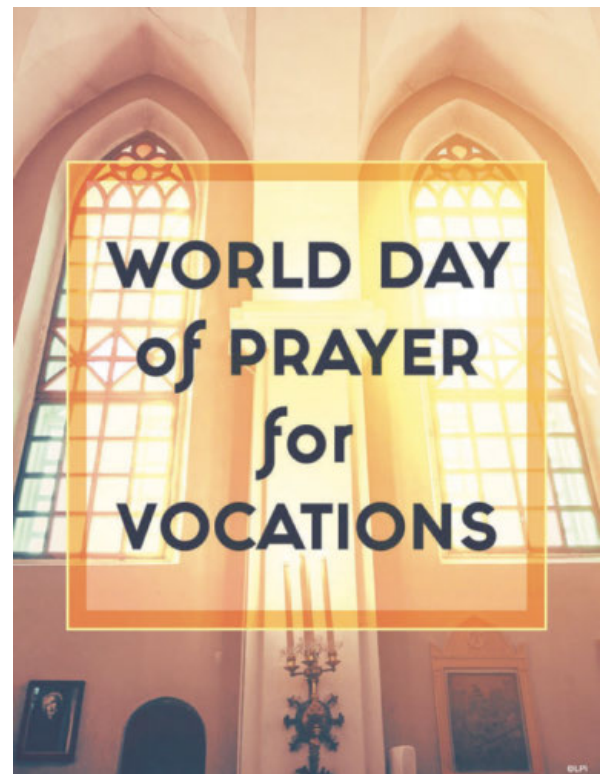

No matter what your vocation, the process of discovering it is half of the challenge. Do you know your vocation? What is a vocation?

Our vocation is our call from God to share in His mission in the world, and it is given to us for our salvation and to cooperate in the salvation of others. We receive our vocation at the moment of our Baptism, then we spend the next several decades of our life trying to discover what that call may be. We often speak of discovering our vocation rather than choosing it.

Discovering our vocation is itself beneficial to us and to our ability to live the vocation most fully. Searching for our calling can be beneficial. It builds dedication and resolve, it requires humility and trust in Divine Providence, it helps you to listen to God and pray to Him.

Here are some practical suggestions for discerning your vocation. These will help you to becoming more open to God's grace working within you: daily Mass or go more than once per week, daily Rosary or at least a decade, daily Holy Hour or spend 10 to 15 minutes of quiet prayer, pray the Divine Office (morning and evening prayer which can be accessed at ibreviary.com), and frequent confession (every 2 or 3 weeks).

Each of these keys to unlocking your vocation is a goal to work towards. It is helpful to talk them over with a priest or spiritual director to help stay on track and not get discouraged. God has given each of us a holy vocation; let us listen to our God's voice in our hearts. God bless you!
